OnFire's sleek design is inspired by elegance and nature. It is fueled by wood, a choice which is in line with the sustainability aspect of the product and the effortless maintenance required to operate it. The structure is available in corten or black powder coated metal with rust-proof and corrosin resistant treatment; OnFire is wheatherproof and can be left outdoors when not in use. The unique shape of the plate provides the option of simultaneously cooking different types of food.
